District Golf Title to Edward B. Eynon, Jr.

Edward B. Eynon, Jr., of the Columbia Country Club, yesterday won the title in the District of Columbia Golf Association's third annual championship event, which was played on the Columbia course, Samuel Dailzell, of Chevy Chase, took the silver medal given for the second best score for the seventy-two holes, with William C. Ballantyne, of Columbia, third.

These three and Donald Woodward, Norbert Dempsey, William R. Oglesby, George P. James, Dr. Lee L. Harban, John W. Brainer, Albert R. MacKenzie, John C. Davidson, Tom C. Dempsey, and Harris N. Brown, all of Columbia, and Simon T. Price, Bannockburn, Richard Beattie, Bannockburn, and J. Donald Cassella, Chevy Chase, form the "honor society" for the year.

Eynon and Ballantyne held yesterday morning with 182's when they started on their third rounds but Ballantyne fell down badly, getting an 89 to Eynon's 81.
In the afternoon, Eynon scored another 84 to Ballantyne's 88, forcing the latter to third place when Samuel Dailzell, of Chevy Chase, cracked put on a good finish in his match and jumped from fourth place to second—only two strokes behind the leader.

Norbert Dempsey, the youngster who was runner-up in both the Chevy Chase and Washington Country Club's tournaments, did some good work and pulled up to fifth from eighth on his last round by turning in a card of 81.

The cards of yesterday's play for the three prize winners are as follows:

Milo Hackenschmidt to Meet Joe Turner on Tuesday Night

Milo Hackenschmidt, a brother of George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion, will meet Joe Turner, the middleweight champion of the world, in a finished wrestling match at the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling at the Lyceum Theater on Tuesday night.

Hackenschmidt is the champion middleweight of Europe, having won the title two years ago in the last wrestling tournament held in England by Lord Lonsdale, when he captured the Lonsdale belt. Hackenschmidt came to this country two years ago and has met some of the best matmen here.

The young Russian Lion has been working for George Tuhey, the well-known wrestling promoter, in the New England States and has beaten some of the best athletes in the country.

Hackenschmidt has gained quite a lot of weight since his arrival in this country and now weighs 185 pounds.

This match will be a finished affair at the catch-as-catch-can style. Hackenschmidt wanted to meet Turner at a European style, Greco-Roman, but after much argument, Manager Tuheyville, of the Pennsylvania playhouse, signed them at the catch-as-catch-can style. The match will follow the regular performance on Tuesday night.

Frank Moran Is Demanding Top Prizes for Battles

By RINGSIDE.
New York, June 3.—Frank Moran is enjoying all the prosperity of a ring champion, despite the fact that he is only a mediocre heavy-weight.

Moran possesses some of the qualifications of present-day title-holders, notably a disinclination to meet logical opponents.
His recent unpleasantness with Jess Willard has spoiled Moran. Frank received a check for $25,000 for taking a ten-round posting, and the size of that purse has apparently turned Moran's head. It has also dimmed his vision, for Frank can see nothing less than $25,000 whenever a fight is broached, regardless of the status of his proposed opponent.

Moran was offered $15,000 to engage Carl Morris for ten rounds. Morris, at best, is a third-rate heavy-weight, yet Moran looked upon this flattering offer con-temptuously and demanded $25,000. As a result, negotiations were dropped.

Only a few weeks ago Moran signed tentative articles for a ten-round match with Jack Dillon in this city. Moran's demand for $20,000 for the fight was granted, and the match finally seemed to be closed. But now Moran repudiates the articles of agreement and insists that he receive at least $25,000 for his services.

And less than two years ago Moran got barely his expenses for fighting Champion Bert Johnson twenty rounds. Prior to this bout, Moran was lucky to pull down several hundred dollars from his hardest fights.

All of which speaks well for the saca-rity and shrewdness of his manager, Joe Morgan. But these tactics are not making Moran popular with the fight-loving community. At present Frank is well liked by supporters of the game, but if he persists in overestimating the value of his services, Moran is likely to find himself not so much sought after by promoters, and as a consequence his popularity will wane, and the price for his appearance in the ring will greatly diminish.

A Moran-Dillon match, if staged this summer, would surely draw a gate close to $50,000. There is great interest in this match; in fact, it is the best heavyweight card in view now that Willard is tied up with the circus. Moran will get his $25,000 to be sure, but it will come out of Jack Dillon's end. If the latter is really anxious to go through with his end for about $10,000.

Moran does not hesitate to ask $25,000 to take any fight he wants. He is an un-schoolboy, who is lucky to escape a knockout at the hands of Al Reich, who subsequently quit due to Fulton. It is quite possible, however, that Moran would come down from his $25,000 perch if Jim Coffey were to be offered to him as an opponent. You see, Moran has already knocked out Coffey twice; so he could afford to take a chance with Big Jim provided Frank gets $15,000. That is Moran's price for a third meeting with a man he has stopped on two occasions.

Benny Leonard and George Chaney are scheduled to box six rounds in Philadelphia a week from tonight. Here is a meeting of the two extremes in the ring—Leonard, cool, collected, calculating; Chaney, aggressive and toting a knockout punch in either glove-encased hand.

Leonard and Chaney are the two real hard-luck kids of the ring. Each is next to the champion in his respective class, and both are ignored by the title-holders.
Leonard is light-weight champion, Freddie Welsh's Nemesis, whereas Chaney is bitter medicine to Johnny Kilbane, the feather-weight champion. The meeting between Chaney and Leonard, if it goes through, will be a real attraction. Chaney has been a regular loser, but Kilbane has turned a regular winner, and the price for his
minish.

Next week's bout will determine the class of Chaney and Leonard. A decisive victory for Leonard will enhance his title, while a win for Chaney will put Kilbane in a position where he will be accused of cowardice if he does not consent to fight Chaney.

Leonard, likewise, is willing that Welsh get his demands for a match with the title at stake; but wily Freddie has thus far eluded the inevitable meeting.
